PREFACE.

FIVE volumes of Yorkshire Wills deposited at York and one at Richmond, reaching in the former case to 1531 and in the latter to 1578, have been printed by the Surtees Society, chiefly under the editorship of Canon Raine, and it is to be hoped that other volumes will follow, as they form some of the most valuable publications of that Society.

There is a gap in the Wills at York during the time of the Commonwealth, when Yorkshire Wills were proved in London. These Wills are now at Somerset House, and an index to them was compiled by Dr. Collins, and printed in the first volume of the Record Series.

Having lately made large extracts from the Wills relating to the families mentioned in Dugdale's Visitation of Yorkshire, 1665-6, for the purpose of improving the pedigrees therein, I thought the information would be acceptable to the members of the Yorkshire Archaeological and Topographical Association, and therefore I offered my extracts to the Council. Hence the present volume.

Canon Raine, in his preface to the fifth volume of the Testamenta Eboracensia, justly observes that it is impossible to print all Wills in full. With this I fully agree, but I have endeavoured in these abstracts to include all the genealogical matter, and as much as possible to preserve the phraseology and some of the quaint spelling.

As the Wills were probably written into the books at London by persons not well acquainted with Yorkshire, there are a good many mistakes in the copying, particularly in the proper names.

A few notes and extracts from Wills at York have been added, and I have to thank the Rev. C. B. Norcliffe, M.A., of Langton Hall, whose knowledge of Yorkshire gentilitial families is unrivalled, for giving me a great many extracts from parish registers and other information from his large collections. I have also to thank Dr. Sykes, F.S.A., for several notes and corrections, Mr. John Lister, M.A., of Shibden Hall, and Mr. Richard Holmes of Pontefract, for their kind answers to enquiries, also Mr. Chaloner Smith for his attention during my numerous visits at Somerset House.

I hope that I do not only express my own opinion when I say that a debt of gratitude is due from all interested in genealogy to Dr. Collins for his excellent index, without which this work could never have been undertaken, and also to him for commencing the great work of indexing the Wills at York.

In the two hundred and fifty Wills transcribed in this volume, I fear there may be some mistakes, but as the work was not originally intended for publication I throw myself on the indulgence of the members.

It must be observed that the dates are according to the old style, the year formerly ending March 24.

* The testator sprung from Iiland, in the parish of Halifax, and it seems likely that the entry in the Iiland Register, "1570, Sep. 17, John, son of William Wilkinson, bapt. 7" refers to him. His mother was Jennet Savile, sister of the celebrated Sir Henry Savile, Provost of Eton. Her will is dated Sep. 1, 1635. I desire my executors to take most especial care for the payment of my debts, and to this purpose I give and bequeath to them all my goods, together with all such sums of money as shall remain upon sale of the lands stated for the charges of payment of my two daughters' portions after the said portions paid, and to the end as well that my debts and the said portions be paid with the most advantage, I desire my son Francis to look into the sale of the said lands and of all my goods, if he do not redeem them himself, that they may be sold to the best profit, and my will and desire is that whatsoever money that be wanting to the payment of my wife and my debts, after my lands aforesaid prized and sold and my daughters' portions paid, shall be made up by my son Francis Rockley, whom I do hereby will and require to be careful to pay the same, knowing well that he may easily and ought to discharge and pay the same out of fee simple lands which shall descend to him from me at my death as inheritance. His daughter Elizabeth married 1st, John Lord Darcy, and 2nd, Sir Francis Fane.

Francis Fane of the honorable order of the Bathe, Knight, aged and infirm in body. My body to be buried in firbecke church where my dear Parents and five children were long since buried, and now of late my most dearly beloved wife deceased with them interred, being in hope and confidence that by the only merits of my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ all my sins are forgiven, and that my body at the last day (though now mortal) shall at his glorious coming to judge both the quick and the dead, rise a glorious incorrupt and immortal body, and that my soul and body shall then reunited and clothed with the pure robe of the righteousness of Christ Jesus, and purified in his immaculate blood and sanctification of his Spirit, and redeemed into the kingdom of heaven, there to enjoy the glorious presence of the Godhead and the everlasting unspeakable happiness prepared for the saints and blessed angels of God according to the good pleasure of his will before the formation of the world. And as touching my personal estate, which God in his goodness hath suffered me to enjoy, though it be but small yet I hope sufficient to content me whilst I live here in this world, consisting of these particulars. The capital messuage of Thwaite and all the houses, lands, and tenements, and the yearly rent charge or annuity of £30 of yearly rent issuing out my son's lands in firbeck, Maltby, Letwell, and Gildingwell in the county of York, and in the parish of Blithe in the county of Nottingham. First, I give and bequeath unto Sir Francis Fane of the honorable order of the Bathe and his lady and every one of their children, my grandchildren, 20s. a piece in gold, and to Elizabeth Savile, my grandchild, also a 20s. piece of gold. I give to my said daughter the lady Darcie, now Sir Francis Fane's wife, all my goods and chattels whatsoever, and do make her my full and sole executor. And whereas my said daughter of her free good will engaged herself to pay unto two of my sisters M^{rs} Marg^t Freacheville, widow, and Edith the wife of Godfrey Columbelle, gent., £5 a piece yearly at the feast days of Whitsuntide and Martinmas by equal portions, which by reason of the hardness of these times (her goods and lands being sequestrated) she hath been unable to pay for some years past, but had an intention to perform it always when she was able, therefore I give unto my said daughter that £150 which M^{rs} Francis Westby, widow, her son George, and M^r Anthony Hadfield was bounden to pay unto me, the better to enable her out of the consideration or interest of the said £150 to discharge that £4 and 10s. a piece yearly, to pay my said sisters during their lives. That this was the last will of the deceased, Thomas Holdsworth, these witnesses can testify, Joseph Wilson, Elizabeth Bamfort, whose names are subscribed.

and, to be paid me during his natural life out of the rents and profits of the said lands, I bequeath the same to my said trustees for the benefit of my son Henry Hotham; and whereas all myne and my husband's money, plate, jewels, goods, and personal estate, to the value of £7000 at the least, was unjustly seized and taken away at Hull for satisfaction, wherein petitions are now depending before the Parliament and Council of State, and great hopes of recovery thereof or of some part, I bequeath the same to my said trustees for the use of my son Henry, and if a considerable sum is recovered my trustees to bestow it upon some lands in the South part of England, to be settled and conveyed upon my said son. And for satisfaction of my said debts and legacies, and discharge of my funeral expenses, I will to my said executors all my jewels, plate, moneys, linen, goods and household stuff whatsoever, except what is before bequeathed, and if there be any overplus, I desire the same may go to the maintenance of my said son, and I desire that they may be appointed his guardians, and that each of them may have a death's head ring of gold to wear for my sake, and I do appoint, if the said expected money from the Parliament be paid to my said trustees and executors, then they shall settle upon and pay unto M^{rs} Lumley Jeffreys, mother of my said cozen Mary Diglin, one annuity of £10 a year, and my

To my loving friend M^r George Ryder of the city of Westminster one bond or obligation of £3000, wherein M^r Rumsey and M^r Irwin stand bound unto me for the payment of £1,500, and I give the said Geo. Ryder all the debt due by virtue of the said bond. To said Geo. Ryder and my loving friend M^r W^m Slater of Halifax £50 a piece, to be paid by M^r Arthur Savile out of my lands. To M^r Geo. Ryder all bedding and furniture in the house now occupied by W^m Beeston of Wakefield. To said cozen M^r Arthur Savile all my manors in co. York, to him and his heirs.

^a There has not been much printed about the Savile of Wakefield branch of the great Savile family. I therefore add a few notes which I hope are correct.

George Savile, Esq., of Wakefield, one of the first governors and a benefactor of the Grammar School (younger son of Thomas Savile of Wakefield, son of Thomas Savile of Lupset, by Margaret Basforth), died Oct. 24, 1593. His will dated Oct. 6, pr. Nov. 2.—(Banks.) I.P.M. taken Nov. 26, 36 Eliz. He had two sons, George and Thomas, both also connected with the Wakefield Grammar School. The elder, George Savile of Haselden Hall, Wakefield, married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Edward Ayscough. She remarried Sir George Savile, Bart., of Lupset, and was buried at Horbury, Jan. 25, 1625-6, and their descendants inherited the Thornhill estates.

George Savile's will dated Dec. 16, 1594, was proved at York, Feb. 17 following, by his widow.—(See copy in Taylor's Rectory Manor of Wakefield, vii.) I.P.M. taken Aug. 25, 37 Eliz., states, he died at London, Jan. 2, 37 Eliz. He left an only daughter, Margaret (2 years and more at date of the Inquisition), who married at Thornhill, July 29, 1612, Thomas Middleton, Esq., of London.—(Reg.) She was buried there, Dec. 29, 1613.—(Reg.)

The other son, Thomas Savile, married Sarah, daughter of Mr. Richard Clayton. She remarried Sir Robert Mounson, Oct. 28, 1602 (Walker's Wakefield Church), and was buried Aug. 6, 1640, in the High Choir of the church there. His will, April 23, 1599, was proved at York, Aug. 7, 1599.—(Taylor.) He left John, Dorothy, wife of Sir Thomas Musgrave, Margaret, wife of Sir Fr. Manckton, and Elizabeth, wife of Sir William Wentworth (brother of the great Earl of Strafford), who fell at Marston Moor. She became co-heir to her nephew William Savile, the testator.

John Savile, son and heir of Thomas, married Katherine, daughter of Sir William Mounson, and had William Savile, whose will is now given. The latter is stated to have married, first Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Francis Williamson, and secondly, Elizabeth, daughter of Henry Romley, Esq., who remarried William Oglethorpe.—(Taylor.) No mention is made of his wife in the will.

* Daughter of John and sister of Thomas Gledhill, whose wills have been given, Nos. 157 and 158.

The school founded in her will has been in existence ever since as a National School at Barkisland, and some of the Horton family have always had the chief place in its management. New governors having lately been required, a fresh scheme has been brought forward for founding scholarships and otherwise altering the arrangement connecting the school with the church. One of the chief points of dispute is as to the religion of the testatrix. Because her uncle Joshua Horton was a great friend of Oliver Heywood, and a Nonconformist, it is wanted to be made out that Sarah Gledhill was one also. This, however, seems hardly likely, considering that the Gledhills were a Royalist family, and their near relations in the churchman John Harrison of Leeds.—See the notes to the former Gledhill wills in this volume.

Joseph Ramsden, gent., and Dorothea Savile were married at Elland, July 6, 1675. Charles Hall, York, and Sara Savile were married there, April 30, 1667. The exact place of this branch in the Savile pedigree is yet to be made.

Page 9. John Wilkinson, D.D. I have a little more information concerning the Wilkinson family, which may be interesting.

I give unto my eldest son John Wilkinson, D.D., my bed in the nether parlor, all bedding and furniture in the parlor. Residue to John and William, sons of deceased son William. Son John, D.D., executor.

Dr. Sykes has given me extracts from the wills of William and John Wilkinson, nephews of John Wilkinson, D.D., and grandsons of the above Jennet Wilkinson.

William Wilkinson of Adwick le Street, clerk, made his will, June 8, 1623, proved August 19th following: Names my wife Mary, my daughter Mary, my brother M^r Dr. Wilkinson, Principal of Magdalen Hall, Oxford, to take my son Henry to educate. To my father William Wilkinson of Eland, the care of my son John, and after his death to my brother Thomas, my daughter Mary to my sister Jane Rodes, my son William to my friend Sir Richard Beaumont, my daughter Mary to my wife Mary.

Dr. Sykes says he was buried at Adwick June 10, 1623.

John Wilkinson of Eland, co. York, D^r of Physicke. To my sister Elwicke one sealed ring with my arms upon it. My sister Thwayts, my brother M^r Robert Harrison. To my cousin M^r Edward Hanson Sir Henry Savile's picture. M^r Edward Thomson, minister of Monk Fryston. My brother Dr. Henry Wilkinson, Principal of Magdalen Hall, Oxford, that dwelling house in Eland I now live in, &c. My said brother residuary legatee and executor. Witnesses, Robert Houldsworth, John Featly. Administration granted to John Brearcliff, principal creditor. [Pr. Sept., 1657.]

He was buried at Arksey, May 17, 1655.

Mrs. Mary Elwick, widow of William Elwick of Arksey, yeoman, who was buried there, March 5, 1654, married secondly at Arksey, March 19, 1655, Mr. George Holgate of the parish of Darrington, Gent.—[Dr. Sykes.]

I suppose it would be their brother Henry Wilkinson, D.D., called "Dean Harry," who, according to Calamy's Nonconformist Memorial, vol. i., p. 241, was a celebrated tutor in Magdalen Hall, of which he was afterwards Principal, till he was cast out by the Bartholomew Act in 1662, upon which, leaving Oxford, he preached in private, first at Buckminster in Leicestershire, afterwards at Gosfield, then at Sible-Hedingham in Essex, and lastly at Great Cornberth, near Sudbury in Suffolk, where he died, May 13, 1690. In a pedigree in the Ashmoleian MSS., Bodleian Library, he is said to have married Elizabeth, daughter of Arthur Giffard, and to have had John and Henry.

There are besides two other Dr. Henry Wilkinsons, whose exact relationship to Dr. John Wilkinson I have not quite made out. Henry Wilkinson, born in the Vicarage of Halifax, October 9, 1566, elected Probationer of Merton by favour of his kinsman Sir Henry Savile, Lent Term, 1581, took the degree of D.D., and in 1601 had the living of Waddesdon, Bucks. In 1643 he was elected one of the Assembly of Divines, and dying March, 19, 1647, was buried at Waddesdon. He married Sarah, only daughter of Arthur Wake, and had three daughters and six sons.

Henry Wilkinson, senior, D.D., called "Long Harry," son of the above, born at Waddesdon, was Commoner of Magdalen and afterwards Fellow, Canon of Christchurch, one of the Assembly of Divines, Rector of St. Dunstan's in the West, afterwards ejected, spent the latter part of his life at Clapham, died there, June 1675, and was buried at St. Dunstan's. I presume it was he who was overseer of Dr. John Wilkinson's will.

There is a pedigree of Wilkinson of Waltham in the Visitation of Berkshire. It is headed by Thomas Wilkinson of Eland, co. York, who, marrying Isabel, daughter and heir of Christopher Wilkinson of Eland, had Gabriel Wilkinson of Upper Winchington and Byshop Woodburne, co. Bucks., who died 17 December, 1658. He had issue, and may have been the Mr. Gabriel Wilkinson mentioned in Dr. John Wilkinson's will.
